

Live Chat

Contributed by Oliver Hansen
Tuesday, 25 October 2005
Last Updated Tuesday, 25 October 2005

You should now see a chat box on the top right of the site. It's pretty self explanatory but there are a few things you should note.

- Conversations are not private. Anyone logged into the site during or after you leave a message can read it. But only if they log in.
- A person may be listed as online for a while after they have left if they don't log out so you may send a message and they're not there.
- It's mostly for just saying hi or a few quick words. If you want to say something substantial, the discussion forums are probably a better place.
- Have fun with it! I'll clear out the messages periodically.